It's 1946 Mr. Wolf, the brilliant detective, never leaves his home on business. But he and his assistant Archie are attending an epicurean feast where Mr. Wolf will give a presentation on American cuisine. World-famous chefs will compete to see who is best. But is there trouble bubbling below the surface? Could someone be cooking up jealousy, treachery and even possibly...murder! You know they are! Is it the saucy sauce chef Suzanne? Or the siren Monique who seems to want everyone's husband but her own? Perhaps it is vile Louie who ruins other chef's careers, or the scary and passionate chef Mamselle Voldan. The recipe calls for zany characters with generous amounts of surprising plot twists. Don't miss this hilarious and wonderful Film Noir spoof. Even a genius detective like Mr. Wolf will need your help to solve the crime.
